IQAC department, Smt. M. G. Kanya Mahavidyalaya, Sangli organized one day workshop on “NAAC Related Quality Culture Development (Revised Methodology)”. Dr. N. S. Dharmadhikari, Educationist and NAAC Peer Team Member, Pune and Prin. (Dr.) R. G. Kulkarni were the guest speaker and the president of the workshop respectively. Dr. N. S. Dharmadhikari highlighted that it is necessary to use digital technology in the classroom teaching, which is a very effective method of teaching in modern era. Further he suggested that teachers, parents students and Alumni should lend their hands in the process of teaching and learning. He added that the teachers should take part in different branches and faculties of education to create positive atmosphere in the institution as well as it should be interlinked with the social problems. The different programmes should explore various remedies to solve the problems of the society. Digital Economy, Digital Literacy, Internet Banking, G.S.T. are the new innovative to attract the students. He also explained the Revised Methodology of the S.S.R. and explored it to the teachers. Prin. Dr. R. G. Kulkarni, in his presidential address and introductory speech talked in detail about the primary facilities and different activities run in the college. There were many doubt and questions raised by the participants regarding the revised methodology of the SSR. The speaker answered them very effectively and positively and elucidated the doubts. IQAC Co-ordinator Dr. A. S. Sugate appreciated the guidance of Dr. N. S. Dharmadhikari in his Vote of thanks. There were 37 participants in the programme from different colleges. Prof. U.N. Khirsagar anchored the programme.
