The seminar provided an international platform for researchers, academicians and students to discuss the shift from water abundance to water scarcity and its social, environmental, cultural and literary implications. The students Miss. Amruta Ashok Lale presented the paper entitled 'The Politics of Water in An Enemy of the people', Miss. Madhura Amol Patil presented a paper on 'Oceanic Consciousness in the old Man and the Sea'. 'The old Man and the Sea.' 'The Water that Heals and Kills: Moral Pollution in Ibsen's An Enemy of the People' was the research paper presented by Miss. Richa pratap More. With motivation and leadership of Hon. Dr. A. S. Sugate our students presented well-researched papers aligned to the themes of the seminar that helped them in their understanding of Research Methodology along with their Public Speaking Skills. Their participation in this seminar marked a significant achievement for the students themselves, which also reflected the college's commitment to promoting research.
